

mode

transport planning

Edward Holmes

Bsc Msc MCIHT

Principal Transport Planner

Edward's role is to project manage a suite of projects from proposal to planning within the London team.

Sectors:

education

residential

employment

retail

logistics

transport planning

Edward Holmes

Providing project strategy/management and support to other members of staff and team leads.

Edward is a Principal Transport Planner at mode with responsibility for delivering high-quality transport and highways advice on a broad range of projects across London and the South of England from concept to planning.

He has been a transport planner for the best part of a decade. All his previous roles have provided me with invaluable experience across the industry. He has a keen interest in large-scale residential schemes and logistics hubs, whilst dabbling with holistic innovative transport solutions for construction logistics programs.

Edward is an avid rugby fan and used to spend most weekends playing for a local side. He retired from the sport early this year after the birth of his first child, to spend more time at home with his family. This time also includes the endless list of DIY projects that come with buying your first home.

For more information please contact:

📞 020 3848 9719

✉️ edwardholmes@modetransport.co.uk

mode

transport planning

